Projects currently advancing at the Museum are the relocating of the current kitchen display in the SES shed to the Council Chambers in a designated Kitchen Room, where it is hoped to display all things kitchen related. The current Archive Room in the Council Chambers is also undergoing a big layout change and when completed will house books/maps/newspaper clippings, photos, family history details and history of the businesses that were or still are in Millmerran along with photos and much more. It is hoped that a grant application for a large screen computer for this room is successful in June to enhance the visitor experience.
